

Established in 2008, ASER Centre’s mission is to generate ‘evidence for action’. The evidence is communicated to multiple stakeholders with a view to impacting both policy and practice.

ASER Centre core activities now include capacity building and training as well assessment and research.

All of ASER Centre’s tools, formats and other documentation related to the Annual Status of Education Report survey process, data and training modules are available on our website <http://www.asercentre.org> and can be used free of charge by anyone, with prior information to us on contact@asercentre.org . We encourage other organisations and individuals to use them in their studies and ground-level projects.

However, beyond the information we put in the public domain on our website, additional engagement of our personnel for analysis, training and/or other activities carries consulting and management fees. We differentiate between individuals and groups; and for-profit and non-profit organisations while formulating consulting fees.

Typically the following costs are covered in our consultancy contracts:

FOR RESEARCH AND EVALUATION	FOR CAPACITY BUILDING AND TRAINING
Per Diem cost of our personnel	Per Diem cost of our personnel
Travel and incidental costs of our personnel	Travel and incidental costs of our personnel
Research costs	Training material costs
Organisational overhead costs	Organisational overhead costs
